TO THE LANTANA COAL COMPANY AND OTHERS:

D. C. Walling, et al

vs.

Lantana Coal Company, et al.
In the Chancery Court at Crossville, Tennessee.

In this cause, it appearing from the original bill, which is sworn to, that the defendants, the Lantana Coal Company, and the Missouri Coal & Land Company, are non-resident corporations, and have no place of business or resident officer in the State of Tennessee, and that Chas. C. Leeds, Trustee, is a non-resident of the State, and that the names, ages and places of residence of the heirs of H. E. Bartlett, are unknown to complainants, and cannot be ascertained upon diligent inquiry, and that the said unknown heirs of the said H. E. Bartlett, deceased, claim certain interests in what is known as Grant No. 3694, issued by the State of Tennessee to Jonathan Whiteside for 5000 acres of land on February 9th, 1835, and located in Cumberland county, Tennessee, and that each and all of said defendants are non-residents of the state, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them; they and each of them are therefore hereby required to appear before the Clerk and Master of the Chancery Court of Cumberland County, Tennessee, at his office in the court house in Crossville, on or before the FIRST MONDAY OF FEBRUARY next, 1915, and answer or otherwise make defense to the bill filed against them in said court in the above styled cause; otherwise, said bill will be taken for confessed as to all and each of the defendants above named, and this cause set for hearing ex parte. It is further ordered that this notice be published for four consecutive weeks in the Crossville Chronicle, a newspaper published at Crossville, Cumberland county, Tennessee.

This December 22nd, 1914

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

And so a man or a woman who reads and quotes the Bible as a warrant and an excuse for hardness and uncharitableness and lack of mercy to friend or neighbor is reading and quoting the Bible to his or her own damage, perhaps to his or her own destruction. Let the man who goes to church, who reads the Bible, feel that it is peculiarly incumbent upon him to so lead his life in the face of the world that no discredit shall be brought upon the creed he professes, that no discredit shall attach to the book in accordance with which he asserts that he leads his own life.

Sometimes I have seen—all of you have seen—the appeal made to stand by a man who has done evil, on the ground that he is a pillar of the church. Such a man is a rotten pillar of any church. And the professors of any creed, the men belonging to any church, should be more jealous than any outsider in holding such a man to account, in demanding that his practice shall square with the high professions of belief. Such a man sins not only against the moral law, sins not only against the community as a whole, but sins, above all, against his own church, against all who profess religion. — From Theodore Roosevelt's address, "The Bible and the Life of the People," Berkeley, Cal., May, 6, 1911.
